Dear Sir
I think it nothing but my duty to inform you of the immense sale I have for your Worm Tablets, which I may justly say is enormous, and in every case gives the greatest satisfaction. Pildoras Holloway

Las virtudes de esta admirable medicina son especialmente eficaces para expulsar de la Sangre toda impureza. En los casos de debilidad, ella es incomparable, al paso que cura radicalmente las Indigestiones, y los desordenes generales del Higado, del Estomago, y de los Intestinos, restableciendose, como por encanto, el vigor y la salud normal; dichas Pildoras remueven asimismo las dolencias que suelen afligir a las Mugeres al llegar estas a la edad critica.

Unguento Holloway

Este incomparable Balsamo sana los Males de Piernas y de Pecho, las Llagas Antiguas, y aun esas Ulceras cuyo origen no conviene mencionar en su anuncio publico. Para todas las Erupciones cutaneas no hay remedio igual al Unguento Holloway, al que millares deben la salvacion tanto de sus Brazos y Piernas como de su existencia.

Antes de comprar examinese con mucha cautela el Rotulo de el Bote o la Caja, para cerciorarse si esta la direccion de 533, Oxford Street, London, pues si no esta, entonces se trata de perpetrar un descarado engaño.

☞ Se invitan a las personas que sean defraudadas por los vendedores que expenden 'Las Pildoras y el Unguento de Holloway' falsificados para que se sirvan al comunicarme los pormenores, e inmediatamente hare formalizar procesos legales contra los Ofensores, y recompensare liberalmente a los Delatores por el trabajo que se tomen, comprometiendome a que no haya trascendencia de sus nombres.

Muy importante para el Publico.

Poseido de la mayor ansiedad, y con el debido respecto al Publico, apelo muy encarecidamente a toda clase de personas, para que se dignen prestarme su apoyo, dando a conocer como tales las malas y aun peligrosas falsificaciones de mis medicinas, hechas principalmente en Nueva York, de que tengan conocimiento.

Especuladores nada escrupulosos adquieren esta broza a un precio sumamente bajo, y la venden como si fuera mis genuinas pildoras y ungüento, logrando con esto reprobado trafico una enorme ganancia.

Ninguno de los expresados medicamentos son genuinos, si no llevan en el rotulo de cada bote y caja la inscripcion siguiente: Holloway's Pills and Ointment, 533, Oxford Street, London, y el sello del Gobierno Britanico, con las palabras Holloway's Pills and Ointment, grabadas en el.

Las personas que tengan la bondad de informar de algun traficante que venda las enunciadas medicinas falsas, seran muy bien remuneradas, y nunca, ni en circunstancia alguna, se publicaran sus nombres.

Telegrams from Berlin, from semi-official sources, say that the Emperor William declines absolutely to accept Prince Bismarck's resignation.

"TU MARCELLUS ERIS."

The classical beauty of Mr. Sarmiento's speech on the blessing of the Flag of the 11th of the Line will be sufficient excuse for publishing so long a document in our columns. We commend it to our readers as a composition of unrivalled ability, touching on burning questions with the master hand of a statesman, and on military renown with the pathos of the historian. In any country in the world such a speech as that of Mr. Sarmiento would attract the admiration of the intellectual portion of its community. The blessing of new colours for a regiment is an every day ceremony, but to dress that ceremony with interest that appeals to our higher understanding, and to touch, with the talent of Virgil, the soft and tender passions of the multitude, winning for every line more than the ten sestertia awarded by Augustus, is a task, we are free to say, only a Sarmiento could perform.

Verily, Mr. Sarmiento, when on the Cathedral steps he delivered this beautiful address, must have stood between Calliope and Clio; and when he turned to Colonel Bosch and exclaimed, 'tu Marcellus eris,' there was only wanting an Octavia to swoon beneath the Cathedral pillars to complete a scene which even in boyhood drew tears. The following is the address. It bears on points very fresh and on subjects very old; and, with admirable dexterity, reminds the soldier of his duty and his trust, and the great danger of tampering with either:—

Commanders, Officers, and Soldiers of the Battalion No. 11 of Infantry of the Line of the Argentine Republic,

With heartfelt satisfaction I accept the honor of godfather with General Campos, in blessing the banner of the 11th Battalion. It pleases me to think that superstition has influenced your choice, since three Generals sprang from the 6th of the Line, to which Regiment I had the honor of being godfather in blessing its flag; but then, the only spectators were invalids in the hospital and a band of music: our troops were in hot pursuit of the Chacho, whom we attacked and put to defeat in Causete.

The banner of a regiment is like the phœnix that rises from its ashes. Now-a-days, when a new brilliant banner is waved at the head of a regiment, the remains of the old one are no longer thrown in the ditches of the road. The glorious relic that still, perhaps, preserves its folds, faded by the rays of the sun, blurred by smoke and the blood of the enemy or that of its bearer, are preciously preserved.

To show you the value of this relic, I will just recall the grand spectacle when before the President of the United States and the Diplomatic Corps, 200,000 soldiers during three consecutive days marched past: a torrent of men, iron, steel, bronze, and horses. Regiments succeeded regiments, and the eye could not fathom the end of them in the horizon: that avenue of flaming bayonets swept along leagues through the avenue of Philadelphia. Six hundred artillery pieces were dragged battery in front during one whole day, making an uproar louder than the tumultuous waters of San Lorenzo dashing through the rapids. You may have seen cavalry after Caceros file down Calle Florida in sufficient number to judge of the space occupied by 40,000 men with the victorious Sherman at their head. In front of each body there waved three banners, the first indicated the division of the army, the second was the stars and stripes, which had suffocated in blood and in a hundred victories the Southern Confederation; the third banner, and I saw many of them, was a fantasma, an illusion. Some of them preserved their glorious signs, scarcely discernable, blackened by smoke and rain; but of others there only remained a bent staff, with some ribbon that once boasted its gold color. The skeleton of a flag, the confused reminiscence of a banner, drew forth from the immense population assembled frantic shouts. Oh! those were sublime emotions, only aroused by scenes so grand, and the colossal shapes it displayed to the human mind. The object had been the redemption of a race of slaves, a more noble purpose than that which deserved the Homeric epopee.

Nature loosens the elements, upheaves volcanoes, floods countries, destroy cities and territories, and changes the face of the globe; but even in this destruction there lacks the intelligence of human efforts. Imagine 200,000 soldiers fighting, 1000 cannons rooring, and in the midst of this uproar, in the midst of this smoke, rises the banner of a nation which guides the soldiers on the battle field: when his valour fails, the sight of it revives his courage; but when it is in danger of being taken, then the simple soldier rises from the human sphere, becomes a heroe and leaves to posterity his triumph or his death.

Comrades—26 soldiers, the remnants of a regiment, bore a staff, a yard long, with the marks of the sword, and smashed, but none more glorious at the sight of it the people began to cry and remembered the battle-field of Gettysburgh, where 40,000 soldiers fell, but dying they smothered the colossal rebellion.

I relate all this that you may preserve as a relic the old banner of your regiment. This relict that you see is your own history. The rains that have destroyed it have also fallen on you: the rays of the sun that have discolored it have bronzed and burnt your features, besides the hunger and thirst you suffered in the desert, the dust that suffocated you on your marches, and the strong winds that increased your fatigues.

Commander—When your soldiers in marching through the streets of cities subjected to the vertigo of political strife are received with jeers, when the banner of your country is insulted, instead of ordering to clear both flank and front, lest the soldier should be contaminated by that viciated atmosphere, let your standard-bearer wave that old, torn, and discolored rag, that all may read on it your sufferings, your fatigues, your hunger and thirst, and remember those who have succumbed to the deseases of a campaign, which in war carry off more victims than the enemy's balls.

This tatter with its nakedness and poverty shall tell to the sons of the rich, of the fortunate, of the unoccupied, that the millions which they possess in houses, in jewels, those thousands of sheep, of horses, of cows, they all owe to the poor soldier of the 11th and to the other regiments who secured the frontiers, extended the territory, and drove back those savage tribes which made life and property precarious in the desert.

The number or name of a regiment constitutes a family to its members, with all its glories and adventures, its reverses and its dishonor. You, that belong to the 11th of the Line, must remember that that number is a noble name, and that its antecedents are so illustrious and glorious that they eclipse those of the other bodies of the army.

There, in your post, Commander Bosch, have stood the illustrious General, Don Jose Gregorio de las Heras, the hero of Maipu: General Fehesa, and General Videla. In this line, in this rank, where everyone of you stand, stood a brave soldier at Membrillar, at Chacabuco, at Talcahuano, at Maipu: or fell gloriously at Toronta, or at Moquegua, or conquered at Junin or Ayacucho.

In the beginning of the War of Independence, 400 Cordobeses under command of Las Heras passed the Andes to help the Chilian patriots. At Membrillar, the Spaniards beat the Insurgents, and the auxiliaries returned to Mendoza. San Martin awaited there the hour of revenge and the auxiliaries, who were the basis of the new battalion 11. Col. Las Heras commanded the battalion and trained it in that school where it was deemed a crime to have a loose button, a stain on the uniform, or any irregular inclination of the body.

I have seen many of those illustrious chiefs, and old men, women and children ran to welcome them and pointed those singly out who belonged to the Andine Army. Once imprisoned in Mendoza, without the slightest cause, a sentinel used to pass before my cell. I asked him 'In what regiment have you served, my friend?' With a stentorian voice he shouted: 'Guard, the prisoner has spoken.' The guard and two soldiers arrived, and, informed of the matter, he was told to state the regiment he had served in: he drew up, and without looking at me, he said with a firm voice: 'No. 11 of the Andes,' and marched. I never saw a more legitimate pride than that which filled this poor peon. He felt that he was the whole 11th of the Line, and knew his duty as a sentinel. The 11th passed the Uspalata Pass escorting the Artillery, and had its first encounter with the Spaniards at the Guardia Vieja. In the battle of Chacabuco it also took part: at Cancha Rayada, under General Las Heras, it occupied the right flank of the army, and was surprised by the Spaniards. With 4,000 men, it saved the General with Argentine Artillery, and after four days march, during which the penalty of death was inflicted on whoever stopped to drink, or plucked the grapes from the neighbouring walls, they arrived, half dead of hunger, in time to form the left wing at the battle of Maipu, where General Las Heras was the hero. The No. 11 of the Andes swelled the ranks of the expedition to Peru, took part in the unfortunate affair at Puertos Intermedios, under Gen. Martinez and General Alvorado, and after suffering great reverses, after the retreat of Toronto and Moquegua, re-embarked. The 11th and the 3rd of the Line formed the Plata Battalion, which fought at Ayacucho and Junin, but owing to the necessity of infusing the martial spirit of our veterans into new regiments, its ranks were always the basis of new battalions, and thus it happened, that the greater number of the soldiers of the 11th became officers and commanders of the Chilian, Peruvian, and Bolivian armies. Thus disappeared from the grand scene of Independence the 11th of the Line.

Young Soldiers of the 11th—The glory of your regiment is a myth, if you do no not preserve its severe virtues.

Officers—Read the history of your regiment and you will foster its glory.

Commander Bosch—I have known General Las Heras, the hero of Maypu; he had your stature and your gait, but you must rise to his moral worth and leave, like him, your name to posterity.

Comrades—Our Army is known for the morality of its soldiers. It is its noble tradition. I have seen Captain Marchaud, of the 2nd of the Line, shedding tears because he had to inflict a correction on one of those veterans for a slight fault. With tears in his eyes he said to me they were all saints, and years have passed without a single correction.

The 9th of the Line was adored by the families of Concordia, where it was garrisoned: and you will do nothing unworthy of a gentleman if you remember you belong to the 11th of the Line, heirs to the glory and virtue of those past.

To you also, valiant soldiers, I must address a word regarding your moral duty, which is of greater import even than your valour. Whilst placing this banner under your custody, you swear to defend it with your lives, that our sons, who will soon form a nation of millions of men, may see it braving the wind on the territory it now waves over, and on thousands of vessels in our rivers and seas. The soldier, however humble his position in the army, is the nation itself to which he belongs, just like the sentinel at his post is equal in rank and majesty to the kings of the earth. Not only on the battle-fields must your virtues shine; not only on the forced marches must your perseverance and energy astonish: you have other duties to society, and I must speak of them.

The Army is the executive hand of the President of the Republic, who is the Chief Supreme of the nation, and the Commander-General of all forces on land and sea.

Nobody can raise arms against the National Army, because nobody, unless a traitor or a foe, can fire on you without injuring the banner which represents the nation. A happy circumstance gives the 11th of the Line a special character, and imposes on you an historic duty,

Our Commanders before Caseros were patriots and politicians, and during a certain period afterwards were patriots and revolutionists. The Army reasoned, judged, and even used to mix in politics. We have heard Admiral Grenfell interrupt a Commander of the steamer he commanded, who, on trying to excuse himself on an order he had received, said, "I thought, Admiral, that . . . . ." "On the vessel an Admiral commands no person has the insolence to think, Mr. Captain. Go below; you are a prisoner, and you lose your rank."

Thisis our policy: where the Commander-in-Chief of land and sea is, nobody who wears the sword of the nation will dare to think or hold opinion.

The National Army has already been purified of that vice communicated to it by circumstances. Discussion has left its ranks, and passed to the University and the deliberating bodies. What remains is that terrible machine of steel and bronze, with articulations called regiments, brigades, battalions; and as lead, steel and powder cannot carry out orders mechanically, every weapon has a man beside it, like an automedon who directs and manages them. This is an army: it is a despotism, as Washington called it; it is a colossal catapult to demolish tyrannies and pulverise obstacles, walls, and even nations. Its strength lies in its obedience to the hand of the child who touches the electric button that communicates movement to it. If the machine is slow, speaks, or murmurs, it is out of order. The screws must be loose, worn out, rusty, and repairs necessary.

Soldiers of the 11th—Receive the new banner of your regiment pure and immaculate of all painful reminiscences. See written on it Chacabuco and Maipu, and remember your Commander Las Heras when you salute your Commander Bosch.

If I were a prophet I would say in honour of your chief, 'Tu Marcellus eris.'

THE IRISH CONVENT.

It is very remarkable that, of all the foreign communities that make up the cosmopolitan River Plate, the one most prosperous and least representative is the Irish. Various attempts have been made to meet this want of national representation and place the Irish community collectively on a par with that of the French, the Scotch, the Italian, the English, the German, or even the American, which is one of our smallest foreign communities; but, from one cause or other, these efforts have failed and failed, so signally that the few struggling charitable institutions exclusively Irish in this city have collapsed. The Irish College was attempted by the late lamented Canon Fahy, and whether for want of support, or other cause, it was found not to succeed. The property was transferred for a small sum, and upon conditions reserving certain privileges to the Irish people, for the education of their boys. The college that has risen upon that Irish property in the Calle Callao is the stateliest to-day in the whole of this Republic.

The Irish Hospital flourished for a few years, and whether for want of patients or of support, or through defective management, its doors were closed, and it became a thing of the past.

The Irish Convent in Calle Riobamba, which for 23 years was the most thriving of all our Irish institutions, is to-day shut up, the nuns gone to Australia, and the trustees eagerly publishing notices and calling meetings in order to discover what to do with the concern. On the 22nd inst. a meeting is to be held, and we should not have anticipated the question at that meeting but for the following letter, which we have received from the Archbishop's Secretary:—

"Dear Sir,

"In consequence of the petition made last year, in obedience to a resolution adopted at a meeting of Irishmen held last year, in the Palace, and reiterated in the month of January last, the General Superioress of the Society of the Sacred Heart has replied that, as quickly as possible, she will meet our wishes, sending some ladies of her congregation, according to the prayer of said petition; and she also states that some of the nuns she will send can speak English. As these ladies will soon arrive, and the Archbishop conceives there can be no opposition, he hopes that the trustees, as he previously indicated to them, will concede for the use of these nuns the Irish Convent property in the Calle Riobamba.

"Yours truly,

"Francisco Serrache."

A telegram from Constantinople of the 7th inst. states that Aleko Pasha, Governor-General of Eastern Roumelia, had an interview this day with Reouf Pasha, at Hermanli, to concert collective measures for the pacification of the district of Kerdjeli. A great number of Mussulmans are emigrating from Eastern Roumelia on account of the persecution they are subjected to by the Bulgarian population. Petitions are also being addressed by them to the foreign Consuls for protection against the outrages of the Bulgarians.

Two serious fires occurred, one at Glasgow and one at Manchester, the damage sustained in the former being £50,000, besides the supposed loss of two lives; and in the latter £30,000.

Much more serious effects have resulted from the explosion of a boiler at Glasgow than were anticipated. Twenty-three men have already died, and several more are not expected to survive.

On the afternoon of the 5th inst. a most unusual and lamentable accident occurred to a party of volunteer artillery officers at Irvine, resulting in the death of Lieutenant Colonel West Watson and Sergeant-Instructor Kirker. The officers went down to Irvine to practise some new drill, and while the sergeant-instructor was putting in the fuse he incautiously struck it too hard, causing the shell to explode. The sergeant-instructor died the same evening, and Lieutenant-Colonel Watson, whose leg had to be amputated, on the morning of the 7th. He was son of Mr West Watson, the City Chamberlain of Glasgow. Six other officers were injured.

We believe (says the Times) that no appointment has yet been actually made to the post of Quarter-master-General about to be vacated by General Sir Daniel Lysons, who, as we stated some little time since, succeeds General Sir Thomas Steele in the command of Aldershot Division.

The long projected English Pilgrimage to Lourdes, headed by Cardinal Manning, will leave London on May 31st, so as to arrive at its destination on June 4th. The Rev. Lord Archibald Douglas has been appointed Secretary to the Committee charged with carrying out all arrangements.

At an early hour on the morning of the 7th a further number of amnestied Communists arrived in Paris, and were met at the Montparnasse Station by an immense concourse of persons.

A Lisbon telegram of the night of the 7th inst. states that the British Royal Mail steamer ran into the steam-pinnace of her Majesty's ship Agincourt in the Tagus, and sank her, and drowned the coxswain and stoker.

According to a telegram from St. Petersburg published by the Tagblatt of Vienna of the 7th inst., the police had reason to suspect the officers of a regiment of artillery which had lately arrived in town. A search was made in the barracks where the regiment is quartered, and compromising papers were found. Four superior officers and twenty-six subalterns have been arrested and confined in the fortress. Another telegram, addressed to an evening paper, states that the Czarewitch has received a communication from the Nihilists' committee, of which the following is the most striking passage:—"We demand the abdication of the Czar, a Constitutional form of Government, the immediate dismissal of the servile creatures and executioners of our fathers from the State, military, and Court service, and release of all those who have been exiled to Siberia for other offences than against the common law. Then only shalt thou and Russia be left in peace."

Mr. W. E. Gladstone's address to the electors of Midlothian was issued last night. The right hon. gentleman, dealing with the Premier's dark allusions to the repeal of the Union and the abandonment of the Colonies, points out that those who endangered the union with Ireland were the party that maintained there an alien Church an unjust land law, and franchises inferior to our own. As to the Colonies, it is by the measures initiated by a Liberal Administration that they are bound in affection to the Empire, and the author of them can afford to smile at baseless insinuations. Mr Gladstone asserts that the true purpose of these terrifying insinuations is to hide from view the acts of the Ministry and their effect upon the character and condition of the country, and the indictment he prefers is, that at home the Ministers have neglected legislation, aggravated the public distress by continued shocks to confidence, augmented the public expenditure and taxation for purposes not merely unneccessary but mischievous, and plunged the finances into a series of deficits unexampled in modern times. Abroad they have shamed, if they have not endangered the prerogative, have weakened the Empire by needless wars and unwise engagements, and have dishonoured it in the eyes of Europe. They have aggrandised Russia, lured Turkey on to her dismemberment if not her ruin, and loaded India with the costs and dangers of a prolonged and unjustifiable war. As to the domestic legislation of the future, it is in Lord Beaconsfield's address a perfect blank, and it is suggested that as in the past, so in future the country may look with more confidence to the Liberal party for the work of domestic improvement. Upon the Premier's reference to our ascendency in the councils of Europe, Mr. Gladstone asserts that it is little less than ridiculous, and he concludes with a reminder that any voter who supports at the election a member of the present majority will be taking on himself both what has been done alread and what may be done by the same agency hereafter.

The Bank return is unexpectedly favourable, and the decrease in the demand for money indicated by a falling off of £200,529 in 'Other securities' has occasioned some surprise. The Bank of England was, it was understood, transacting a large discount business, and it was even said that an advance in the Bank rate was probable in the course of a few weeks. The present weekly return shows, however, that the demand for money, in spite of the fact that our trade has decidedly improved, is by no means active, and has not yet assumed proportions calculated to lead to higher rates of discount. It is generally acknowledged that during the elections a considerable amount of coin will be required to meet the inevitable expenditure, but this outlay will not only be temporary, but there will be some restriction to trade and general enterprise, as it is yet uncertain what will be the result. A small majority on either side would, it is apprehended, be perplexing, and it seems to be chiefly in this sense that the result of the elections is looked forward to with anxiety, and is inducing business men, especially in all speculative transactions, to operate with caution. The supply of bullion held by the Bank of England has increased to the extent of £130,370, and there being a diminution in the note circulation the total reserve has been augmented by £531,699. The proportion of reserve to liabilities now amounts to 46.88 per cent against 45.77 per cent last week. It is very satisfactory to notice that on the 'fourth' of the month the clearances at the Bankers' Clearing-house were decidedly larger than at the corresponding period of last year. In the money market the feeling was, as we pointed out at the time, that there was a larger supply of domestic paper, and the clearing-house return published to-day shows that there was reason for the belief. The clearings last Thursday are stated to have been £18,362,000 against 15,129,000 last year, showing an increase of rather more than £3,000,000.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The Lamport and Holt steamer Leibnitz sails to-day for Europe. Amongst her passengers are Mr. Barry Thomas, Mr Patrick Murphy, Mr Wilhelm Altgelt, Captain Warren and others.

In consequence of the elections coming off to-day, the Rev. Father Martin will not preach at the San Roque Church, as he had intended.

We publish to-day General Sarmiento's speech at the blessing of the colours of the 11th Regt. of the Line. The aged General is the John Bright of the River Plate; when he makes a speech on grand occasions it is always a good one: the one in question is amongst his best.

A learned German friend sent us yesterday the following answers to the recent batch of queries and conundrums in Latin, Greek and English sent to us by sundry subscribers who thirst for mutual improvement :

'Cernere rummus erat,' &c.—He was a rum un to look at, but a devil to go.

'Homo sum in Hispaniam,' &c.—Nature has seen the vice of the man of Spanish race.

"Those of your readers who also know German, besides the classic Latin, will be amused by the following :—

'Noster me oleum gramen suadere vult.'—Latinus Cocinæ.

'S t' or 'ss t' means 'salvum titulum,' or, in the plural, 'salva titula.'

As far as we remember our Latin, we think our correspondent is not happy in his translation of the 'Homo sum' puzzle. We have another version which we shall be happy to show Dr. Zeb, but the author does not care to have it published.

The latest about the terrible murder is as follows :—The victim was named Natalio Sterner, an Italian and not a Portuguese, as stated in our issue of yesterday. He had been engaged in the infamous traffic of importing women for immoral purposes, and in this business made frequent visits to Montevideo : he had only returned from there a few days ago. He had occupied the room where he so tragically came to his end about four months, and as he generally came in late at night he was unknown to most of the inmates. His name was not known even to the house porter, and when asked for it lately by that official he said it was immaterial, as he intended to leave shortly. It is conjectured that the motive for this crime may have something to do with an occurrence which happened on Monday last, when the Commissary of Police received an anonymous letter, stating that certain women were confined in a certain house, having been only lately imported from Europe as a speculation. Though inclined to treat the matter as a 'bola', the commissary thought proper to investigate, and found that the communication was perfectly true. The frail captives were set at liberty to go their separate and shady ways. There may be no connection between the foregoing circumstance and the murder, but, perhaps, the murdered man may have written the anonymous letter to the police and thus ruined his partner's speculation. There is very little sympathy to be excited for the victim, who, no doubt, got his deserts, and the details of the crime are most revolting from the cruelty and coolness with which it was executed. Besides tying up the victim's mouth, the murderer inflicted about five wounds with the axe and knife, each sufficient to cause death. After the crime he seems to have washed his hands, as the bloody water remained in the basin. He also took the victim's watch and what money there was in the room. Bad as a man may be, he seems always to have some friends to care for him, as Friday afternoon the 'patios' were filled with a concourse of weeping women and men of sinister aspect, who came to follow the body of their friend to the tomb. Before putting the body into the coffin two photographs were taken of it, and one of the eye, with the idea of seeing whether the image of the murderer might not have been left in it. The gentlemen resident in the Hotel Anchorena have directed a letter to the proprietor regarding the late crime committed in the house, asking that no more rooms be let to parties who cannot give references of respectability. They also ask that some means be taken to keep up a more vigilant watch during the night, as the dwellers there are practically isolated from all assistance in case of illness or such attacks of which this crime is an instance.

As is generally the case on election days, most of the population will remain at home to-day and leave the streets and churches to the politicians. It did not look at all unlike rain yesterday, and perhaps the voters would be all the cooler for a good drenching.

Punch gives the following epitaph for the expired Parliament, by Sir Wilfrid Lawson, apropos of Mr. Cross's Water Bill :—

Imperial Measures,
and
in its Seventh Year

The National Government has opened a supplementary credit of 150,000 pats. to pay off sundry scores of the Immigration Department. This most vital branch of the public service is the most neglected by Congress. It ought to have at least five times the paltry sum allowed it; which could be saved by allowing the provinces to pay for educating their own rising generation.

A widow lady living alone at the South end of town went out to do a little shopping some days ago, and on her return found her domicile sacked from top to bottom. The rascals took away everything portable in the place, and,we supposeby way of a harmless joke, left a small prayer-book of their own on the floor, doubtless to suggest to their victim that she should seek religious consolation in her trouble.

The news from Montevideo is that the affair of the 100,000 pats. lottery prize which was spirited away has given rise to a terrible scandal in which the Latorre Government is seriously implicated. The Junta Economica have resolved to overhaul all books of the Lottery, and astounding revelations are expected. There was a fearful row at the Solis Theatre on Wednesday at an amateur performance. The house was filled to the doors. The scrimmage began in the cazuela by two ladies tearing each other's hats off about a seat. The termagants would not listen to the shouts from the pit and boxes to 'sit down and be quiet,' and finally all the ladies in the theatre got frightened and began to make for the doors, the gentlemen in vain trying to persuade them that there was nothing wrong. The yells, cheers, cat-calls and whistling were truly awful. Seven ladies were carried out in a fainting condition, and the theatre was left half empty for the rest of the performance. The new Minister of Government is working away with Herculean vigour. On Wednesday he issued orders to prosecute several public officials against whom serious complaints were made. Mr. MacEachan is the most popular man in the new Cabinet, and justly so.

The most amusing scene that ever occurred in the Guildhall of London was when that illustrious body rejected last month by 72 votes to 45 Alderman Isaac's motion for an address of congratulation to the Czar on his escape at the Winter Palace. The opposition was so strong that Mr Isaac called his confreres 'a pack of Nihilists.' This produced a terrible hubbub : but finally Councillor Rogers routed Mr Isaac by proposing that the Corporation should name a permanent 'Congratulation Committee', which would have plenty to do, as hardly a week passes without some Continental sovereign being made a target of ; to save time and trouble, this Committee might have printed forms ready, with the King or Emperor's name in blank, which could be filled the moment a telegram announcing another attempt came. This produced roars of laughter, and, after the division, Mr Isaac rushed out to restore his nerves by taking a Russian bath.

The 'Defensores de Buenos Ayres' have had their gala night at Colon. The audience beat the Opera demonstration on Sunday hollow, as the old Colon was filled to the doors and skylights. Our distinguished countryman Count Patrick surpassed himself on the occasion, and the cheers and applause were incessant all the evening. Nothing seems to 'draw' so well now at the theatres as a 'Tiro' demonstration ; but it is quite natural, and the public won't object so long as no swords are drawn, at least in earnest.

The 'cresciente' in the Parana is subsiding, and the water has now fallen fully five of the 6½ feet it had attained over ordinary level. Six and a half feet is a very nervous rise for a big river.

There is a lively but utterly unprofitable dispute now going on as to whether the new statue to be placed on the top of the renovated Cabildo should be one of Justice of Liberty, of Truth, or of a fourth quality which we forget, but should not be surprised if it was Fiction. In most countries Justice surmounts the Law Courts, so we vote for Justice, but with a good fat tortoise in her lap.

The new French Company for the Variedades Theatre have arrived and will debut next week. The only thing we can learn about this company is that the ladies belonging to it are all very prétty, so we suppose this will be sufficient to fill the house with 'golden youths,' without any reference to the professional merits of the players. 'A Rome comme a Rome.'

Although Saturday, the business in gold to-day was very small, and the liquidator reports a very light delivery of gold and a very easy Saturday. At 3 o'clock gold checks came from outside and were offered at 30.65, but could not be sold. Gold opened at 30.65, rose to 70 and closed at 30.65, for cash 162,107 sold and for end of June same rate, which is significant. Gold rules much weaker than at the beginning of the week, and we note that since the return of Dr Lopez, President of the Provincial Bank, from the camp, and the Bank fixing its drawing exchange rates, gold has never recovered the jump it made upwards last week. Although on the very eve of the Presidential election, things ruled quieter far to-day than a month ago. The news current was that Roca has come down to Rosario and would be here next week, and that a fresh combination had been made which would settle everything.

Cedulas ruled very firm and advanced ½. Treasury Bills firm at 77½, the bills amortized at 95 yesterday were bought on 'Change same afternoon. Nat. Bank Shares firm at 57½, and Government bills discounted in open market at 13 per cent and hard to find at that rate.

Capt. Warren, of Rosario, arrived to-day, he leaves to-morrow in Leibnitz.

Exchange ruled very quiet and not much done for the Leibnitz, takers at 49½ and 5.23, drawers ask lower rates.

The payments on 'Change were not heavy and the produce business of the week appears to have been small.

In wool circles there were no new telegrams, but Messrs Peyredieu and Bradley for a fine lot of merino asked this morning the astounding price of 200 m/c per arr. ; the highest price ever asked in this market for even the very best of wool: it is not yet sold.

Messrs Chas. Story & Co., in their excellent shipping circular, show that our wool shipments now reach 200,000 bales, as will be seen by the following important table :—

Shipments since 14th Oct. 1879 to date—

Freights rule about the same ; small vessels for hides and tallow in demand, but captains pretend higher rates ; orders from Montevideo and Rosario for vessels not to be had in either port.

The Carabassa Bank has received 150,000 francs gold per La France.

Mr Sanford and several others leave to-night for Montevideo, and the Leibnitz to-morrow will take a good number of passengers.

We correct our reporter's statement concerning the non waving of Mr Christophersen's flag on the King of Denmark's birth day; our reporter must have mistaken the Consul's house.

Parties anxious to secure a good and cheap estancia in the 9 de Julio can find same by looking over our advertisement column.

Mr Barry Thomas, of Adrogue, and Mr Patrick Murphy, of Rojas, both estancieros leave in the Leibnitz to-morrow for a short trip to Europe. We hear that Mr Thomas has purchased Mr Dick's estancia at the 9 de Julio.

It was announced on 'Change that Mr. Woodgate has also resigned his post on the Municipal board ; we fear much that politics have crept into the council room when we see such active and independent men as Messrs Guerrico, Terrero and Woodgate resign; the matter merits comment.

The saladeristos we hear will resume killing in another fortnight.

In our description of Mr Sackmann's splendid establishment, by a typographical error the capital in the place is marked at 70,000 m/c instead of 700,000 m/c, and we correct the error.

Mr Wilhem Altgelt, of the house of Messrs Tornquist & Co., leaves to-morrow in Leibnitz on a summer trip to the Rhine, after a six years's residence here. We hope to see him back next November.

Messrs Wissnor & Chapeaurouge's report was given round this afternoon ; the wheat arrivals for the week only reach 8,385 fan. and 835 bags flour. 600 bags wheat from Montevideo have arrived and discharged at Catalinas mole.

Hides—800 Sta. Fe cow hides sold at 51 rls. gold.

At 4 p.m. the market closed for cash and the end of month at 30.70 sellers and at 30.65 buyers.

Our special Boca reporter gives the following :—

"The Amer. lugger Henry Warner entered yesterday with lumber for Casares.

"Last night about 9 p.m. a frightful murder was committed in one of the largest Cafes in our vicinity. Three or four Italians were seated at a table where complete harmony seemed to exist, when suddenly one of them, out with his revolver and shot one of the others seated at the table dead with a ball through the brain. The murderer escaped, but another man was taken in his stead to the Policia, one of the companions."

A supplementary credit of a hundred and fifty thousand fts has been opened by the National Government for the emigration department. The public money could not be spent in a better cause.

Mr Pearson has been named manager of one of the Government colonies in the interior, and we congratulate Mr Dillon upon the appointment, as Mr Pearson is a man of sound practical camp experience, and under his direction any colony must succeed.

The department of engineers has contracted with Mr Saourdaux for the measurement and surveying of four hundred square leagues of the Rio Negro territory ; this is good news for the subscribers to the Rio Negro loan, as they will soon be able to discover the locality of their properties.

Mr John L Somoza has bought the steamer Port of Buenos Aires for four hundred thousand dollars, having previously bought two vessels of 650 tons, and to-day is about to purchase another ; all these purchases are for the coal mines in the Straits of Magellan which are now being worked to great advantage. The shares are all held in this market. Mr Somoza and Mr Miro sail for the Straits on the 19th, taking down a large quantity of machinery for the coal mines.

The sale of 21,114 sheep, al corte, at 43 dols, 1845 cows, al corte, at 290 dols., 948 mares at 85 dols., on an estancia in the district of Bragado is reported, D Mariano Fernandes buyer.

Mr Huss's live cattle report was given round to-day, it contains much useful information about the camps and live stock, and gives the following sales of sheep, which will interest the farmers :—

Mr Horace Mitre, as the attorney of the Argentine Bank, is suing various parties, we suppose for calls due on the shares. In last night's Siglo the following parties are summoned, Mr E Woods, Don Candido Fonseca, Don J A Fernandez, Messrs Enrique Finn & Co., Camilo Achaval, Sebastian Barbua, Magdalena Acosta de Jorge, Enrique Chavie and some others. The wind-up of this Bank seems to be almost as disastrous as the wind-up of the City of Glasgow Bank.

On Thursday the 22nd April there will be a great auction sale of sheep at the estancia of the late Thomas McCormack in the Saladillo. It will be a good opportunity for parties who want to buy sheep to get good flocks and cheap, as the two-thirds valuation of the flocks average about 24 paper dollars 'al corte'; latterly we have remarked that few of our countrymen attend these sheep auctions, and the reason, we understand, is that their lands are so heavily stocked that they have no room for more; but the lands in the Tres Arroyos have in many places fine soft grass, and there is plenty of room for our surplus flocks in that immense district, and we cannot agree with our countrymen who maintain that there is no more fine land to be had in this province for sheep, since even in the district of Patagones there are splendid tracts of soft grass lands without a sheep.

In Mr Huss's live cattle circular, which was given round yesterday, we note allusions made to some forced sales of cattle at prices much under the market rates, owing to the apprehension of estancieros caused by the rumours of political disturbance, troops marched about and the probability of the Nat. Guard being called out ; this is a subject of very high moment to the market, and not much discussed in this city. There cannot be the least doubt that the estancieros, both in this and the adjoining province, have been much frightened by the turn political affairs have taken in this city, and the sending of some soldiers by the Governor of Santa Fe to the Arroyo del Medio has increased the alarm.

The long looked for elections of electors takes place to-morrow, and the opinion on the Bolsa is that they will pass off quietly notwithstanding all the hub-bub that has been made in the papers about them. It will prove a great triumph for our institutions if this presidential election passes off peaceably.

It is rumoured that a fine steamer is being built in England to run on the Upper Uruguay in connection with the Eastern Argentine railway ; this would no doubt prove an excellent step to increase the traffic on that line.

The last balance sheet of the Provincial Bank shows that the 'Sucursales' hold their capital of close on 40,000,000 currency, which shows the amount of paper money needed in the country districts for the local trade. The total issue of specie notes allowed by law has been reached, and of 18,100,000 fts. issued the Bank only holds in its vaults of these specie notes 1,438,613 fts., but the Bank holds in paper money 42,777,631 m/c and in gold 1,261,142 pats, so that the total of cash on hand held by the Bank reaches 116,000,000. We remember the time when if the Bank held 30,000,000 currency it was thought a good cash balance.

The greatest hit for some time back in the amortization line was made by Mr Pratje who amortized the National Bonds of 1876 at the extraordinary high price of 95, the pity was he did not ask par. The following is the list of the amortization bids, which owing to pressure on our space we were unable to publish yesterday ; the list is always useful, as it shows where the Bonds lie :—

On next Tuesday Messrs Baltar & Quesada will sell another lot of splendid English bulls and cows ; the particulars will be found in our advertisement columns. No money gives higher returns to the estanciero than that invested in English bulls.

We note by our advices from Montevideo that the Public Credit Office in that city has been closed, which seems a significant move and indicates great change down there.

The Italian barque Unirne cleared yesterday for Antwerp with 10,000 salted hides, 175 pipes of tallow and 8,000 horns.

The stock of wool in the South Market was discussed to-day on 'Change. The general impression is that it amounts to about 50,000 arrobas.

The next Pacific boat from Montevideo for Liverpool is the well known steamer Britannia, commander Brough, which leaves on Tuesday 4th May. We hear that a good many of her cabins are already taken.

HOLMAN'S
Liver and Stomach Pad
Cures without Medicine.

An efficacious remedy for all diseases having heir origin in a torpid liver and diseased stomach, has been discovered in the Holman Liver Pad. The inventor of this boon to suffering humanity was himself a victim of chronic disease, and having tried medicines in vain, conceived the idea of an external remedy. The Pad applied immediately over the vitals and the centre of the nervous system, absorbs all poisons and diffuses a vegetable tonic throughout the entire system through the pores and by means of the circulation. The torpidity of the liver is thus removed, the tone of the stomach restored, and the organs resume their wonted functions. Finding that the principle worked successfully in his own case, the discovery was made public, and thousands have since tried it with the most beneficial results. The names of a large number of well known citizens in all parts of the country, who owe their restoration to health to the Liver Pad, attest the genuineness of this great invention. It requires no internal medicines ; it is simple, painless, and rapid in its operations, applicable to children as well as adults of both sexes, and in case there should be no disease in the system, remains passive, doing no harm. Persons who are incredulous as to the value of this Pad, will do well to send for a pamphlet to the Agency.

Copy of Analysis by Professor Kyle.

National College, Buenos Ayres, November 29th 1879.

Messrs. M. Forrester & Co., Buenos Ayres.

Gentlemen—I haveat your request made a careful examination of he sample of JEYES'S SHEEP DIP you handed to me on the 18th inst. I find it to be a well made preparation of Phenols and other Tar products, combined with soap, retaining the liquid form and easily mixible with water, from which it does not afterwards separate.

The proportion of active ingredients amounts to rather over 80 per cent it is free from Mineral Poisons and from Caustic Alkalies. In my opinion it is well worth the attention of Sheepfarmers, and will be found by them to be convenient, safe, and I do not doubt, very efficacious as a Sheep Dip. From the readiness with which the preparation can be mixed with cold water it ought to prove most acceptable as a domestic disinfectant, being more convenient than crude Carbolic Acid or the disinfectant powders so frequently employed.

I am, Gentlemen, your obedient servant,
JOHN J. KYLE, Professor of Chemistry.

Extracts from Testimonials

From Mr. Alex. Stewart, Bailiff to H. D. Pochin, Esq. Rodnent Hall, Wales—

"The Sheep Dip is the best that I have ever used. I have not seen a single Maggot on any of the Sheep since we used it. The wool looks beautiful, and to all appearance improved in quality. I feel satisfied it will be an invaluable boon to our large Sheepfarmers in the Colonies, and it only wants to be appreciated."
